Introduction of this approach in many Afro-Asian countries originated from the growing concern for interweaving the health education components in school education and in non-formal learning situations. The Seminar held in the Delhi Campus of NCERT on 11.12.1993, led to the evolving of effective strategies for use of Child-to-child as an approach for Education for All in pre-primary, primary, and non-formal education set-ups. The course of action by the Government depends on the report of the seminar to be received.
